DR. TYNG'S RESIGNATION.

It was officially announced about two weeks ago that the Rev. Dr. Stephen H. Tyng. jr., had resigned the management of the Paris agency of the Equitable Life Assurance Society. The announcement was followed by published reports that the ment was followed by published reports that the directors of the company had become dissatisfied with Dr. Tyng's conduct of the French agency and that President Hyde went to Europe for the express purpose of making a change. It was reported that he had paid Dr. Tyng $20,000 as a consideration he had paid Dr. Tyng $20,000 as a consideration for resigning the office. At the office of the com-pany in this city no information beyond the mere fact of the resignation was received until yesterday, when letters from President Hyde arrived. After reading the letters, James W. Alexander, vice-presi-dent of the company, made the following official statement:

dent of the company, made the following official statement:

The mails for which we have been waiting have just arrived from Paris. The telegraphic information received some ten days ago briefly announced the resignation of Dr. Stephen H. Tyng, jr., from the management of the French agency of the Equitable, and its acceptance by the president of the company, who is now there. Certain statements have since appeared in various newspapers, professing to give the details of the interviews and naming a certain sum of money as having passed as a "consideration" for the resignation. These accounts were none of them communicated from Paris to, nor furnished by, this office.

The basis of Dr. Tyng's contract was a commission on business transacted, and not a fixed salary, as has been erroneously reported, and an adjustment would occome necessary on a separation. Such adjustment has been made, and it is this which has probably been concused with the payment of a "consideration." The amounts involved are of interest only to the parties concerned and have in no instance been correctly resported. The information having only now been received by the company could not possibly have been accurately stated by others. The change is a simple business transaction, involving questions of detail and management. The first stage of the company's contract with Dr. Tyng would have expired very soon, and when Mr. Hyde, the company's president, went abroad it was not known whether Dr. Tyng's relation would continue or not. The president did not go to Paris for the parpose of determining the question, but being there it came up and has been settled to the mutual satisfaction of the parties directly interested.

TROUBLE IN A SUNDAY-SCHOOL.

TROUBLE IN A SUNDAY-SCHOOL.

Much bitterness has been engendered in the Sunday-school of the Lexington Avenue Methodist Church, owing to a difference that has arisen between several of the teachers and Superintendent Potter. The origin of the difficulty is accredited to the superintendent's arbitrary methods. A few weeks ago he became angry with the superintendent of the infant class, Mrs. J. S. Henning, because she did not attend promptly to his directions. Mrs. Henning's husband was indignant at Mr. Potter's remarks, and expressed himself warmly on the subject. The feeling increased, and inally led two weeks ago to the dismissal of Superintendent Potter from his position. But the next Sunday he appeared as usual to direct the school. In consequence both teachers and scholars were dismissed for the day. Last Sunday the pastor, the Rev. Clark Wright, acted as superintendent. Assistant Superintendent Freeman has been appeared to the position, and Mr. Potter declares that he will seek redress in the courts.

L. H. Baldwin, one of the older members of the church, who does business at No. 41 Prince-zt., said yesterday to a Tribune reporter: "I do not think there will be anything further done about the matter. The talk of Mr. Potter about taking it to the courts is foolish; but he is a man of hot temper and overbearing in his manner. The action dismissing him from his position was taken by the teachers, who have the right to act in such affairs. They first consulted with the Bishop and the Premaing Elder, and their proceedings conformed entirely with the church regulations. Mr. Potter has no one but himself to blame. He has been superintendent of the school for a year and has never been popular. Mr. Henning, with whom he has had the trouble, held the position several years and was very much liked. This, I suppose, first caused jealousy, as the school has gone down under Mr. Potter."

JAMES H. MARRIOTT AGAIN IN COURT.

JAMES H. MARRIOTT AGAIN IN COURT.

James H. Marriott, who escaped to this country with $40,000 in diamonds entrusted to him for sale in Paris, was again before Judge Gildersleeve yesterday in the Court of General Sessions. His pretty wife, whom he married after bringing her to this country, sat beside the prisoner and showed pride in the possession of a young infant, who made his first appearance in court yesterday. Marriott was convicted on his first trial of having brought stelen goods into the country, but Judge Gildersleeve granted him a new trial on the ground that the prisoner's own statements, which were the only evidence against him, were not sufficient to warrant a conviction Marriott's counsel moved yesterday for the discharge of his client on the ground that no further evidence could be found than was brought out on the first trial. He said that Franz Kramer, the Parisian ieweller who owned the diamonds would not come to this country. Assistant District At torney O'Byrne said that it was not certain that no further evidence could be obtained, and Judge Gildersleeve reserved his decision. A civil suit has been begun to recover the value of the jewels that were taken from Paris and were not recovered here, and a deputy sheriff was prepared to arrest Marriott if he had been discharged by Judge Gildersleeve.

PREMONITIONS OF THE FOURTH. THE ORDINANCE AGAINST FIREWORKS LITTLE RE-

It was evident yesterday that Young America had concluded that the proper way to show his contempt for the ordinance forbidding the shooting of firecrackers and other patriotic explosives on Independence Day was to begin to tracture the law early. All day long yesterday there was an intermittent crackling of torpedoes and crackers in every quarter of the city. Even in the heart of the business districts there were a sufficient number of janitors' children to keep everybody aware of the fact that the Fourth was coming. The curiosity sheps in the Bowery and the numerous stands along the North River front drove a flourishing trade in cheap pistols, and there will doubtiess be the usual statistics of missing thumbs and fingers to-night.

That the ordinance has not deterred free investment in fireworks by small dealers is shown by the fact that not less than 1,600 permits to sell fireworks have been issued by the Bureau of Combustibles of the Fire Department. Fire-crackers could be bought yesterday at five packs for 25 cents and many a fond father went home last night with a load that would delight the souls of the most callous small-boy.

It is plain, therefore, that those whose patriotism must find noisy expression will feel at home in the city to-day, and quiet-seekers will have to take to the woods. There will be plenty of excursions to give them all a ride. Here the Police and Fire departments will be on the alert all day and doubtless the policemen and firemen will contemplate the hegira with pleasurable feelings in exact proportion to the extent of the movement. The Fire Commissioners have directed that no leave of absence shall be granted to firemen to-day except "in cases of sickness, serious illness, or death in the family." The police reserves will be on duty all day.

"in cases of sickness, serious illness, or death in the family." The police reserves will be on duty all day.

The annual chapter of accidents was opened yesterday. Jeremian Lynch, a lad of twelve years, living at No. 338 East Forty-eighth-st, had an eye shot out by a blank cartridge. He was taken to St. Luke's Hospital. Boys playing with fire-crack-ers set fire to a fence in the yard at No. 110 West Thirtieth-st.

August Lucks, age fourteen, of No. 82 East Eighth-st, was shot in both legs while "skylarking" last night. His wounds were dressed by an ambulance surgeon at the Fifth Street Station House and he was sent home. Robert F. Closky, of No. 11 Carlisle-st., while passing through Battery-place, was shot in the left arm and slightly injured by an unknown assailant. He was taken to Chambers Street Hospital. An awning in front of Max Kurns's liquor-store, at No. 40 Chrystie-st., was set on fire by fire-crackers at 11 o'clock. The damage was $35. Angelo Barteram, age fifteen, and James Kennedy, age twelve, were arrested in the Eighth Precinct for using firecrackers. Kennedy was bailed in $200.

The holiday in Brocklyn will be marked by the general suspension of business, the flying of flags on public and private buildings, the firing of saintes of 100 guns each at Fort Greene, the foot of Court-st., and the head of Stagg-st., and displays of fireworks on Fort Greene, in the Washington Baseball Park, at North Teuth and Fourth sts., at Tompkins-square and at Bushwick ave. and Beivedere-st. Many excursions and picuice are planned, and an afternoon concert will be given in Prospect Park. All the police force will be on duty, and a detail of fourteen men will be sent to the Bridge.

FATHER McCARTHY'S RESERVATION.

MENTAL ACT WITH WHICH HIS INTELLECT HAD

Nothing to Do.

The charge made by the Rev. Florence McCarthy, of St. Cecilia's Roman Catholic Church in Brooklyn, E. D., against his servant girl, Kate Dixon, after she accused him of assaulting her, that she had stolen property worth $140 while in his employ, was dismissed by Police Justice Nacher yesterday for lack of evidence. No decision was reached as to the charge of the girl against the clergyman. The court-room was througed. Mrs. Ellen O'Brien, a sister of Father McCarthy, testified that her brother gave Kate Dixon the money to buy the accordion which she took away with her; he never said it was hers and always considered it as his own. Father McCarthy was then put on the stand. He said that on June 15, when a policeman went to his house, his attention was called to the box where he kept his money, and it had been broken open. The sum of $130, which had been there on June 11, was missing. He admitted that on that day he had told a Mrc. McEvov, who called on him to pay a bill, that he had no money. When he was asked by the lawyers how this was he flushed and retorted angrily:

"Suppose I didtell her that," I might tell you that asked by the lawyers how this was he flushed and retorted angrily:

"Suppose I didtell her that," I might tell you that and still have $1,000 in my pocket. I had money in my pocket, but not a cent for her."

To further questions he explained that Mrs. Mc-Evoy had been engaged to read in public and asked for $50 in advance. He told ner that was not the agreement but she was to have half the receipts. He added: "I felt justified in telling her I had no money. In such a case I always have a reservation in my mind just as if I should meet a pickpocket, and if he asked for money I would tell him I had none."

"A was that a mental of moral reservation?

"A moral one. There was nothing mental about it: the intellect was not in operation at all."

Justice Naener then dismissed the case, as the District-Attorney stated that the evidence was not sufficient to show grand larceny, as charged, and the girl was released.

girl was released.

The case of the girl against Father McCarthy was reopened to admit more evidence in support of the charge and then was adjourned until Friday. Mrs. McEvoy, who was one of the witnesses for Father McCarthy last week, has brought a suit against him to recover $150 for professional services as a public reader, for which he refused to pay

A PRIZE FIGHT LOST BY A FOUL.

A PRIZE FIGHT LOST BY A FOUL.

A prize fight between James Edwards, an Englishman, and George Williams, a colored man, took place at daybreak yesterday near Laurel Hill, L. I. The men had been in training for some time, and all the preliminaries had been arraigned for the contest, which was witnessed by a crowd of roughs. The stakes were $50 a side. At the request of the colored man the battle was fought with hard gloves. Williams showed himself "game" in the beginning, but Edwards broke down his guard and struck the colored man in the mouth, cutting his lip and causing the blood to spurt. In the second round blows were freely given and taken by both men. In the third round, at the suggestion of his second, Williams rushed upon Edwards, seized him about the neck, and in his attempt to give an upper cut he struck Edwards below the belt. The claim of foul was raised and allowed. The crowd were disappointed, and in their eagerness to force a continuance of the brutal contest they seized Williams and threw him upon Edwards; but the latter refused to strike again. "Joe" Fowler, the "feather-weight champion," wanted to "lick all creation," and did succeed in getting into a rough and tumble fielt with Edwards's second, but they were parted. Each of the puglists is about thirty years of age. Williams is 5 feet 6 inches in height and weighs 152 pounds. Edwards is 5 feet 8 inches in height and weighs 159 pounds. James Simmons was referee.

CASES OF "ASSISTED" IMMIGRANTS.
Only two of the "assisted" families which arrived by the National Line steamship The Queen on Monday were detained at Castle Garden yesterday to await the arrival of relatives. No additional "assisted" immigrants arrived. Letters and promises were received by Superintendent Jackson from all the large steamship lines, assuring the return by these lines of all immigrants found to have been sent to this country in their steamers "in violation of law."

sent to this country in their steamers. In violation of law."

Commissioner Stephenson had a long interview with Secretary Folger, at the Sub-Treasury building, and the Secretary informed the Commissioner that immigrants were not to be considered as landed until they were outside Castle Garden. When they were not passed through Castle Garden. When they were not passed through Castle Garden. When they were not passed through Castle Garden the Emigration Commissioners would not be responble for them for a year, as provided for in the statutes. The Commissioners, the Secretary further stated, could detain for inspection all immigrants, by force if necessary, because the Government held the right to prohibit the landing of those likely to become public charges. It remained with the Commissioners to decide whether immigrants should be landed or not.

AN ENGLISHMAN WANTS A WIFE.

AN ENGLISHMAN WANTS A WIFE.
Superintendent Jackson received a letter yesterday from a "steel-hammerer" of Newark, N. J., who stated that he was anxious for the privilege of choosing a wife from the Castle Garden immigrants. The writer preferred an Englishwoman. He had been marned, he said, but his wife han died; nevertheless, he remained an Englishman. He was earning $27 a week, and so could provide for a wife. Unfortunately, the widower wrote, his business kept him so closely engaged that he could only get away on a Sunday or a holiday. He therefore asked the superintendent to allow him to call today and take unto himself a wife—if he could find one after his own heart. He inclosed his photograph. Mr. Jackson expressed a willingness to aid the petitioner in the good work and will be ready to-day to help the Englishman to celebrate the Fourth in the way which lies so near to his affections.

The baby was born on the day of the father's funeral. The children have been sick with measies and one is still so. The mother is a brave little woman and a perfect little lady. We spoke to her of putting the children in a Soldier's Home, but she said that she could not give them up. The James C. Mrs. Mackay's case is a deserving one, and we would like to have the attention of all Grand Army men and of others cailed to her."

WAS VOLLMER'S DEATH DUE TO OPIUM POISONING!

DISAGREEING WITH A DEPUTY CORONER.

WAS VOLLMER'S DEATH DUE TO OPIUM POISONING?

AN AUTOPSY SAID TO BE CARELESS.

Deputy Coroner Conway held an autopsy on the body of Frederick William Vollmer, the German who died suddenly on Sunday afternoon. He decided that death was the result of heart disease and not of opium poisoning. In view of this finding Bruno C. Leman, the druggist who had prescribed for him, was admitted to bail in $2,000, to await trial for putting up prescriptions without the authority of a regular physician.

In conversation with a Tributer reporter yesterday afternoon Leman said that he had been in this country since 1878. He had been a druggist in Germany and in this country since 1861, and he had always put up prescriptions for simple cases without the order of a physician. He denied that there was any opium in the medicine prepared for Vollmer and that his death resulted from taking the medicine. In the case of the Damels child mentioned in The Tributer yesteriday morning, Deputy Coroner Messemer had made a careful examination of that case and decided that the child died of sholera infantum. He said that Dr. Cook was percecuting him from a feeling of personal enmity.

Drs. Cook, Hoffman and Mayer, who had been called to see Vollmer before he died, were found in consultation at Dr. Mayer's office, No. 234 East One-hundred-and-fifth-st. Dr. Cook acted as spokesman and made the following statement.

At 8 o'clock this morning Dr. Mayer and myself went to Vollmer's house to be present at the post mortem examination by Dr. Conway. Previous to the examination Dr. Conway said that he had learned that the case had an antecedent history of frequent attacks of rheumatism. I called his attention later on, however, to the fact that there were no enlargements of the joints nor calcarous deposits which alway accompany chronic rheumatism. The only organ that was removed was the heart. It was surrounded by adipose tissue though not more so than would be usual in a abbject like Vollmer. A fatty heart is one in

MORE TROUBLE ABOUT MILK. DEALERS CUTTING PRICES-FARMERS TAKING A DETERMINED STAND.

DETERMINED STAND.

It was predicted by some milk-dealers at the time that their differences with farmers about the price of milk were adjusted, on March 24 last, that the fixing of prices for a year would not be satisfactory because of the varying conditions of the supply and demand. This prophecy is proving partly true. The New York Milk Exchange, (Immted), an organization of city milk-dealers has recently announced that the price of milk to farmers supplying it would be 2½ cents for the month of July. This is ½ cent less than the price agreed upon at the conference of farmers and dealers last spring. At that conference, however, the Milk Exchange was not satisfied with the schedule and would only agree to fix prices for the months of April, May and June. The prices agreed on by the outside dealers and farmers were as follows: April, 3 cents; May and June. 2½ cents; July and August, 3 cents; September and October, 3½ cents; November, December and January, 4 cents; February; and March, 3½ cents.

The price set by the Milk Exchange will undoubtedly renew to some extent the excitement in the milk districts of Orange County which prevailed a few months ago. The fact that many dealers have contracted to pay 3 cents during July will make farmers averse to shipping to the Milk Exchange dealers at 2½ cents while, some dealers will of course be unwilling to pay 3 cents if they can get the milk more cheaply. The farmers say that their price is low enough and they purpose to sell for no less. The argument of the Milk Exchange dealers is that there is more milk coming to the city than can be sold, owing in part to the favorable weather, which has made the pasturage unusually good for this time of year.

"Had there been the usual drouth at this time." said a dealer last night, "we could better afford to pay 3 cents. But as it is, I think we can get all we want for 2½. The farmers are flooding us with milk, and as the warm weather makes it spoil soon, we lose considerable every day. I think it would be better for the tarmer

GIFTS TO VANDERBILT UNIVERSITY,

GIFTS TO VANDERBILT UNIVERSITY.

W. H. Vanderbilt recently added $100.000 to his gifts to Vanderbilt University in Nashville, which has father founded and endowed with $1,000.000. This last gift raises the sum of W. H. Vanderbilt's contribution to the institution to about $300,000. In 1880 he gave $100,000 for the construction of theological Hall, which was dedicated on May 8 of the next year—the sixtieth anniversary of Mr. Vanderbilt's birthday. Subsequently Dr. Deems—through whom a number of Mr. Vanderbilt's benefactions have been extended—interested himself in the establishment of a department of mining and civil erigmeering. The trustees of the University asked Dr. Deems to nominate the professor to fill the new chair. Dr. Deems sent in the name of Orin H. Landreth and he was appointed. Mr. Vanderbilt, learning that the department was poorly equipped, took upon himself the cost of the apparatus now in Science Hall. Other gifts at various times prior to the last gift raised the aggregate to $200,000. The income of the last gift is to be applied to the support of a technical school in connection with the department which is already so largely indebted to Mr. Vanderbilt. By this last gift the endowment is raised to $700,000.

TWO INQUESTS ON THE SAME MAN.

TWO INQUESTS ON THE SAME MAN.

Benedict Miller, driver of a powerful pair of horses and a brewer's wagon for Charles Bischoff, of Staten Island, started his heavily laden vehicle too tast down a hill at Tompkinsville on Saturday, wheeled the horses too short, upset the huge conveyance and scattered the lager-beer kegs broadcast over the highway. Miller escaped unburt. Later in the day he repeated the upset, but was caught under the wagon and one let was crushed into particles. When taken to a hospital the surgeon advised amputation as the only means of saving the man's life. Miller's wife objected to that, and he was removed to his home. Bloodpoisoning ensued, and on Monday Miller died. Dr. I. Lea, of Stapleton, attended him. Dr. Lea, who is also a coroner, went to the house on Monday morning and left word that he would hold an inquest. Then he went about his professional duties. Dr. J. K. Ambrose, of Clifton, is also a coroner, and when he heard of Miller's death, he went to the house, impanelled a jury, viewed the remains and adjourned the inquest until yesterday, when a verdict was rendered that death resulted from blood-poisoning. Dr. Lea, hearing of Ambrose's action, immediately impanelled a jury, viewed the remains and rendered a verdict of death from blood-poisoning without leaving the room.

HIS INFLUENCE NOT GREAT ENOUGH,
Until about a week ago Michael Monahan, of No.
1,490 First-ave., was a policeman attached to the Sixth Frecinct. In April, he says, Charles Felhoen, of No. 104 West One-hundred-and-twenty-fifth-st, offered to have him detailed to duty in the Jefferson Market Police Court for $250. Felhoen said that he could procure the appointment by his influence with Commissioner French. In May Monahan paid
Felhoen $100 and received a receipt for the money.
He not only was not detailed to the court, but he lost his position on the force. Monahan, therefore, had Felhoen summoned to appear in the Yorkville
Police Court yesterday. Felhoen says that he supposed he had sufficient influence to procure the appointment, but finding that he had not he returned $65 of the money to Monahan's father. Monahan says he did not receive the money. Felhoen was held in $300 bail. HIS INFLUENCE NOT GREAT ENOUGH,

A FIRE-ESCAPE FOR BLIND PEOPLE.

A FIRE-ESCAPE FOR BLIND PEOPLE.

About two months ago Inspector Esterbrook, of the Building Bursau, ordered the erection of fire-escapes on a number of public buildings in New-York, among them being the Home for the Blind in West Fourteenth-st. The trustees of the Home first objected to disfigure the front of their building, afterward they alleged a want of the necessary funds. Mr. Esterbrook declined to accept either of these pleas and prepared to prosecute the case in the courts. A reporter of THE TRIBUNE yesterday visited Inspector Esterbrook's office and was shown all the correspondence relating to the matter, from which it appears that there will be no trouble. A handsomely designed fire-escape is now in course of construction which will be put in position as soon as completed.

At the Jefferson Market Police Court yesterday Charles J. Newman, age twenty-five, of No. 203 East Sixteenth-st., was committed for examination by the city physicians. He said that just previous to his arrest he was in a Broadway restaurant and had ordered a meal, but on receiving a communication from the "brimstone" world not to partake of the meal he walked out of the restaurant and was followed by the proprietor, who demanded pay for the meal. He was in constant communication, he said, with his Satanic Majesty, and he had stood the test of hell fire. He had also had his head chopped off and had escaped untujured after many bars of iron had been thrust through his body.

PROTECTION AND LABOR.

FREE TRADE PARALYZING ENGLAND'S INDUSTRIES.

From The Scrandon Republican,
Badly as the people were supposed to suffer from the exactions of the "grim Earl" who ruled Coventry in the good old days, when he laid a tax upon the town "and all the mothers brought their children clamoring 'if we pay we starve," they were no worse off than the silk weavers of that city to-day, whose condition is so graphically described in yesterday's New York Tringurse by Mr. Robert P. Porter, a member of the late Tariff Commission, whose letters on "initustrial England" are full of timely and pathetic interest. None of England's industries has been so completely paralyzed by her boasted free-trade policy as the business of silk-weaving, so extensively carried on a few years ago in Coventry.

A CONVINCING DEFENCE OF PROTECTION.

From The Amsterdam Demserat.

Robert P. Porter, member of the late Tariff Commission, is furnishing The New York Taibune a valuable series of articles, written in England, on the manufacturing industries of that country. Among other things, they show up the vagaries of free traders and defend our own protective system in a very convincing manner. manner.

Portier, late a member of the Tariff Commission, is now in Eugland, making a tour of the ludustrial establishments of the United Kingdom, and examining into the wages, social condition, and modes of life of the laborers. His observations are regularly published in The New-Y-rex Tribune, and, it is to be noped, will finally be preserved in book form, for in no better way can the facts regarding the industrial classes of Great Britain be brought to the attention of
